Last Day of 21/22 School Year!

"Trust is earned." That's what my mom and dad used to say to me when I would ask for privileges I hadn't yet proved myself capable of handling as a teenager. I might have rolled my eyes a few times in response to this as a young person, but I've learned over the years that what they said was true—Trust is something that is earned, and we shouldn't ever take it for granted. After all, it wouldn't be very wise to trust everyone, certainly those who have proven them to be untrustworthy.

Trust doesn't come naturally to us humans, and maybe that's OK in most cases. But this fact means that our theme verse for this year is a real challenge to us—to trust that God has our best intentions in mind and that He loves us and has a plan. God doesn't ask us to do unreasonable things, though. His command to trust comes from a place of confidence and a history of care for us. Just like in human relationships, our trust in God is earned, and we must look to examples of the ways God has been faithful in order to become confident ourselves in His care for us in the future. Looking back over the year, I have seen so many times that God has led. We have seen students grow and learn through incredible obstacles and challenges, and we have witnessed so many triumphs. We have watched God continue to lead our little school. I am so incredibly grateful for His guidance through it all! As the year concludes, I hope that each one of you is able to look back at how God has led in your own personal lives and in your school lives, as well. My prayer today and every day, and most especially as we conclude school for the summer and say "good bye" to some and "good bye for now" to others, is that we will let God lead in our lives, no matter where we go or what we do. I know that God will continue to prove to you that He is trustworthy as you learn each day, more and more, to lean into His love. ❤️

Happy June, West Coast! Blessings as you prepare for a wonderful summer.
